What do we do?

We pray outside abortion centres in the UK and offer help to women and their babies.

Others pray at home or in church – they are our spiritual supporters.

How did we start?

We are an international organisation founded by Monseignor Philip Reilly in New York in 1989.

Helpers of God's Precious Infants started in the UK in the year 2000 with a vigil in London and then spread throughout the country. There are around 18 groups.

What are our vigils like?

We are there to bring Christ's love to these centres and our vigils are peaceful and prayerful.

Trained pavement counsellors offer mothers and fathers leaflets with information offering FREE help to all - and the possible after effects of abortion before they make their final decision. On leaving the clinic, they offer rosaries and a leaflet giving details of help after abortion.

We do not harass anyone and we do not judge or condemn anyone. We pray for everyone involved in the abortion practice.
